The President's San Domingo Message.

The President Thursday transmitted to the national legislature the official report of the San Domingo commission, accompanied by a special message. The message is carefully worded and extremely conservative in tone. The President disclaims any predetermination to enlarge the area of this government by insular acquisition, and intimates that the question of the annexation of San Domingo was in a measure forced upon him by circumstances beyon his control, to which he considered that a proper want of attention would be equivalent to a dereliction of his sworn duty as chief executive of the Union

He narrates these circumstances, and the steps he felt bound to and did take in consequence, which eventually led to the constitution of the commission of investigation, whose report he submits to Congress, with the suggestion that no action be taken upon the matter, during the present session, beyond the printing of and general discussion upon the report. The president takes occasion to defend himself from the charges of corruption, which, he alleges, have been brought against him in connection with this question, but his words are few, and he contents himself with refering the truth or falsity of these charges to the result of the investigation, the report of which he transmits, as above said, and which, he affirms, "fully vindicates the purity of motive and action of those who represented the United States in the negotiation."

The document is brief, terse, and, as we said before, strictly conservative, more so perhaps than some of his friends, and even some of his enemies, may have desired or hoped for, and probably, more so than the general public expected. The wisdom of this policy on the part of the president remains to be tested by the effect it will have upon the action of the legislative body to whom the message is officially addressed.—Public Record.

The Black Sea Conference has closed its sittings at London. By consent of all the Governments represented, the treaty of 1856 has been modified in one essential particular—that of the neutralization of the Black Sea. Instead of being closed to the war ships of all nations, the concession demanded by Russia has been accorded, and she may now, as precious to the Crimean war, keep as many naval vessels in those waters and build as many naval arsenals on the Crimean territory as she may deem expedient. Similar concessions are, of course, made to Turkey; but the latter Power is no match, in this respect, therefore, put at a disadvantage. An effort was, indeed, made, with some success, to prevent public opinion from criticizing too severely the action of the Conference, by continuing the Danube Commission for twelve years longer and by providing for the neutrality of the works (fortifications) erected on its borders. The treaty was, also, further amended and strengthened by recognizing as still valid the authority previously given to Turkey to close the Straits of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, even in times of peace, against all ships of war but those of friendly and allied Powers. The latter, with the consent, or at the special request of the Porte, may pass both straits, and enter the Black Sea, whenever it shall be thought necessary for them to do so in order to ensure the execution of the stipulations of the treaty of 1856.

These changes, whilst they relieve Russia from and onerous restriction, strengthen, at the same time, the defensive power of Turkey, by giving her the support of the naval fleets of other nations in alliance with her. In all other respects, the treaty of 1856 remains in force. The line of the Danube continues to be recognized as neutral territory, except as to Turkey, who, as a territorial Power, may send her ships of war into that river.

END OF THE ANTHRACITE COAL TROUBLES.—Those best informed as to the present condition of the anthracite coal difficulties in Pennsylvania express the belief that coal mining will be fully resumed by the 10th instant. The Philadelphia Ledger says:

"Though no direct concession will be made by either the operators or miners on the points at issue at the beginning of the coal suspension, important points it is known have, by a sort of tacit consent, been conceded, and will in the future be recognized by each. It is understood that the men will resume work, saying nothing in advance as to wages, leaving that to be determined after resumption, which, at the present price of coal, will be at or about the 83 basis. It is also understood that having resumed, the miners, and workmen will name six men to represent them and their interests, and the operators will name six other men as their representatives, the twelve to form a board of arbitration, first agreeing upon some one other person to act as umpire in the decision of all questions that the board may be unable to agree upon, such decisions to be final, and binding on both interests."

THE PARIS REVOLUTION.—Monday was a hot day for the Paris commune and its army of enthusiasts. About fifty thousand men, under the revolutionary leapers Bergerot, Flourens and Menotti Garibaldi, marched out of Paris by the porto Neuilly, "on Versailles," but the force was cut in two by a sudden and terrific fire from the loyal garrison in Fort Valerien, a severe engagement followed, and the revolutionary forces were routed with heavy loss. Flourens, who has been foremost among the revolutionists, was among the killed. They had counted, it seems, upon "fraternizing" with the troops in Valerien, and so they would go on and "fraternize" their way to Versailles. But that sort of thing was played out at Montmartre, and a civil war, with all its horrors, has at length been inaugurated.—The Versailles government, whose army now practically invests the city, has the support of all the rest of France. Such being the case, there can be but little doubt as to the result.

A special dispatch from Versailles states that the government troops completely routed the remnant of the communists on Tuesday, taking thousands of prisoners and destroying their army.

SABBATH IN WARWICK.

Sunday evening is one of peculiar interest to all members of the human family. How often in our experience have we heard the oft repeated words "how beautifully the sun shines this Holy Sabbath morning," or "how brightly the Queen of night gives back her borrowed loveliness," as though there was a rivalry, which of these luminaries could most honor the occasion. Interesting, because it closes the day which we are commanded to rest from our labors; also as being typical of that rest which is promised to the faithful at the close of life's journey, and I can assure you it was one of interest to the people of Warwick, more especially to the members of the M. P. Church, as it ended the services of that able and efficient minister, the Rev. Dr. D. F. Ewell, who has just finished a four years' ministry in this place, making in all seven years. The Doctor preached us a very able discourse from Exodus XVII and XII verse. He compared the sojourning of the children of Israel in the wilderness to our journey through life, and exorted the members to follow the examples of Aaron and Hur as they stayed up the hands of Moses. He solemnly impressed upon the minds of his auditors that every individual should bear in mind that he is sent into the world to act a part in it, and though one may have a more splendid and another a more obscure part assigned him, yet the actor of each is equally accountable. Though God is not, he is an exact master. His services, though not severe, is a reasonable service. He accurately proportions his requisitions to his gifts. If he does not expect that one talent should be as productive as five, yet to even a single talent a proportionable responsibility is annexed. At the close of his earnest and pathetic address a solemnity hovered over his auditors, and as he pronounced the solemn word "farewell," many bursted in to tears.

Farewell—a word that must be and hath been,
A sound which makes linger.

We understand the Doctor's new field of labor is Easton, Md. He has our best wishes for his success and think the people of his place of destination highly favored in having for their Pastor an able minister and genial christian gentleman.

VINCENT'S HISTORY OF DELAWARE.—We have received No. 11 of this interesting work. The Journal and Statesman speaking of this number says:

It describes the capture of New York and New Castle by the English, and the fall of the Dutch power on the continent. The accout of its capture of New York is drawn from original sources, and it describes particulars not heretofore made known in any history. The capture of Fort Cassimir or rather New Amstel (now New Castle) for that was the name at the time of its capture, is minately recorded, and contrary to the account of Ferris, Smith, Pond, and other historians who speak of it as being pecibly surrendered. The author's further researches show that it was captured by storm, and three of the garrison were killed and ten wounded. This was the first blood shed in conflicts between civilized men in either of the States of New York, New Jersey or Delaware, or as the history says: "The northern suburbs of the pretty town of New Castle was the first and only place that was soiled in these conflicts (alluding to the numerous captures of the Delaware forts) by human gore. The encroaching Delaware has since washed it away, and of the fort which was the scene, and of the ground on which it stood, not a vestige of it remains; all has been swallowed up in its waters."

The capture of New Amstel, the last stronghold of the dutch, gave the Anglo-Saxon the continent. They immediately changed the name to New Castle, and that of New Amesterdam to New York. The South river they changed to Delaware.

A brief sketch is given of D'Hinggassa, the last, most gallant, the most rash, and the most determined of the Dutch Governors. Peter Alrichs (who was the vice-Governor) the supposed ancestor of numerous respectable families of Alrichs, brings the first cargo of slaves imported from Africa to Delaware. Many other matters are related which we have not the space to enumerate. Those wanting information of the State affairs should subscribe for the work.

RHODE ISLAND ELECTION.—The election took place in Rhode Island on Wednesday. The present republicans state officers with the exception of lieutenant governor were re-elected by about 3,400 majority. Returns from all but one town (Block Island) give Hadelford republican, 9,732; Steere, democrat, 5,278; scattering, 104. The question of abolishing trap fishing in the bay was made an issue in the choice for lieutenant governor, and a bolt from the republican candidate defeats an election, and it now goes to the Legislature, which is largely republican.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR
THE SYMPTOMS of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensations of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the liver with

PLAIN LANGUAGE BY BEN BUTLER.

Which I wish to remark—
And my language is plain—
That for ways that are dark
And for tricks that are vain
Our Speaker is peculiar—
Which the same I would rise to explain.

We had a small game,
And Blaine took a hand—
Reconstruction the same—
He did not understand;
But he smiled as he talked to us of it,
With a smile that was child-like and bland.

'Twas March the fifteenth,
And quite soft were the skies,
Which it might be inferred
That Blaine was likewise;
Yet he played it that day upon Grant
And me in a way I despise.

Yes, the game he had stocked
In a way that I grieve,
And my feelings were shocked,
For I could not believe
That one so child-like and simple
Could come in that way to deceive.

But the game that he played
Was right up a tree,
And the points that he made
Were quite frightful to see;
'Till at last he put Cox up, and Randall,
Which the same had been turned over to me.

SPEAKER BLAINE'S REPLY TO BUTLER.

Which my name, it is Blaine,
I don't want to call names,
But I must, to begin,
Say just this of Ben Butler:
That I am convinced he is rather
Well up to the sinfulest games.

And about that small game:
I did not understand,
So I made it my aim,
With the smile that was "bland,"
To keep my small eyes at their keenest
On Butler, as he dealt the first hand.

Which is why I remark,
And my language is plain,
That for ways that are vain,
And for tricks that are vain,
Benjamin Butler is peculiar—
Which the same I am free to maintain.

CHORUS BY THE DEMOCRATS.

In the scene that did ensue,
We did not take a hand;
And the air it was blue
With the execration of the band,
Composed of the Radical members,
Which was a game they too understand.

Which is why we remark,
And our language is plain,
That for ways that are dark
And for tricks that are vain,
Radicalism is peculiar,
Which the same we are free to proclaim.

THE POET'S REFLECTION.

Do I sleep; do I dream?
Do I wonder and doubt?

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR,

THE SYMPTOMS of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensations of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the liver with

DR. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR,

A PREPARATION OF ROOTS AND HERBS, warranted to be strictly vegetable, and can do no injury to any one.

It has been used by hundreds, and known for the last thirty-five years as one of the most reliable, efficacious and harmless preparations ever offered to the suffering. If taken regularly and persistently, it is sure to cure Dyspepsia, headache, jaundice, costiveness, sick headache, chronic diarrhœa, affections of the bladder, camp dysentery, affections of the kidneys, fever, nervousness, chills, diseases of the skin, impurity of the blood, melancholy, or depression of spirits, heartburn, colic, or pains in the bowels, pain in the head, fever and ague, dropsy, boils, pain in back and limbs, asthma, erysipelas, female affections, and bilious diseases generally.

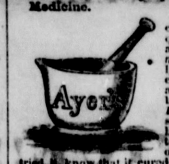
TALLOW WANTED!

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint in its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in larger and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Distance Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

NO Fertilizer introduced to the farmers of the Middle and Southern States has given more general and uniform satisfaction than this guano.

The trade in it has steadily increased until the consumption now throughout the entire country far exceeds that of any other fertilizer.

The large capital involved in its production affords the surest guarantee to its continued excellence. The company has a far greater interest in the permanence of its trade than any number of consumers can have; hence it is the highest interest of the company to put their best fertilizers in the market, that their usual facilities, aided by the best scientific ability, can produce.

This guano is sold at retail by local agents of the company throughout New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and the Souther States, and at wholesale by
